

Sarah Longhouse

Consultant

ABOUT SARAH

Sarah is an accomplished accounting professional with over 15 years of experience in internal and external financial reporting, budgeting, forecasting, and auditing. Throughout her career, Sarah has served in a variety of roles, including senior auditor for a Big 4 accounting firm, senior financial analyst for a Fortune 500 retail company, and senior accountant for a Fortune 500 insurance company. Sarah's experience includes leading high-profile strategic and financial initiatives, designing the system accounting structure for business expansions, and leading compliance audits.

With her expertise in Sarbanes-Oxley and Japanese-SOX, Sarah is highly proficient in all aspects of the internal control environment, from the initial assessment and design of an internal control framework to the testing, remediation, and documentation of control effectiveness. Her solid technical, analytical, and problem-solving skills also allow her to be adaptable to various types of accounting projects such as financial reporting, transfer pricing analysis, account reconciliations, intercompany processes, GAAP research, and system implementations.

Sarah's proven ability to lead financial and compliance projects, along with her excellent communication skills, allow her to easily interact with cross-functional partners and company executives. Clients appreciate her ability to build solid relationships and act as their trusted advisor.

INDUSTRY EXPERIENCE

Banking, Insurance, Investments, Manufacturing, Nonprofit, Retail

EDUCATION

- University of Dayton, Bachelor of Science in Business Administration, Accounting, cum laude